By filing this Confidentiality Justification pursuant to Section 0.459, CTL is not conceding that its Manual does not fall within a specific Freedom of Information Act exemption pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(b). The non-redacted version of CTL's submission is marked CONFIDENTIAL – NOT FOR PUBLIC INSPECTION.

¹ On April 1, 2011, CTL and Qwest Communications International Inc. (QCII) consummated a transaction whereby QCII became a wholly owned subsidiary of CTL.

Confidentiality Justification

47 C.F.R. § 0.459

Information for which confidential treatment is sought

CTL requests confidential treatment of its attached System Security and Integrity Manual under 47 C.F.R. § 0.459. CTL's attached Manual contains confidential and proprietary information. The information in CTL's Manual for which it requests confidential treatment bears the legend CONFIDENTIAL – NOT FOR PUBLIC INSPECTION.

Commission proceeding in which the information was submitted

The Revised Manual is being submitted in ET Docket No. 04-295 pursuant to 47 C.F.R. § 1.20005(a).

Degree to which the information in question is commercial or financial, or contains a trade secret or is privileged

CTL's Manual contains business policies and procedures for systems security and integrity which are proprietary and not for public distribution. The FCC has already found that information contained in a carrier's Manual that outlines the carrier's policies and procedures for dealing with systems security and integrity is of a "sensitive nature." See In the Matter of Communications Assistance for Law Enforcement Act, Report and Order, 14 FCC Rcd 4151, 4177 ¶ 57 (1999).

Degree to which the information concerns a service that is subject to competition; and manner in which disclosure of the information could result in substantial competitive harm

CTL's services are subject to competition. The specifics of how CTL handles security requests and how it responds to law enforcement could provide competitors with information that they might seek to replicate without compensation to CTL or in competition with it.

Measures taken by CTL to prevent unauthorized disclosure; and availability of the information to the public and extent of any previous disclosure of the information to third parties

CTL treats the information disclosed in its Manual as confidential and protects it from public disclosure.

Justification of the period during which CTL asserts that the material should not be available for public disclosure

REDACTED – FOR PUBLIC INSPECTION

At this time, CTL cannot determine any date on which the information in its submitted Manual should not be considered confidential.

Other information that CTL believes may be useful in assessing whether its request for confidentiality should be granted

Exemption 7 of the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552(b) (7) shields information that would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. CTL's Manual satisfies this test.
